

Sales Organization Change Announcement

NEWS RELEASE

For Immediate Release

Hackettstown, NJ, April 21, 2008 - We are pleased to announce that Rick Obbema will be joining TDI Power on April 30th as Director of Sales for the Northern California and Pacific Northwest areas reporting to Lou DeBartelo, VP Global Sales & Marketing.

Rick is a senior sales professional with 15 years in sales management positions. Most recently he was the Western Regional Sales Director for Power One. He also worked for Tyco and Lucent for several years. He holds a BA in Business Management and brings a solid background of power product sales and marketing to the TDI team.

###

TDI Power is headquartered in Hackettstown, New Jersey and has over 1000 employees and four facilities throughout the world. They offer the broadest range of high-technology power conversion products available on the market today. TDI Power manufactures highly reliable OEM supplies and OEM Integrated Power system solutions that typically include converters (AC/DC, DC/DC or multi-output) combined with batteries and controllers. Their products solve customer power issues by delivering engineering solutions incorporating high level electromechanical and thermal management. TDI Power's customers include businesses in the Computer/Networking, Telecommunications, Military, In-Flight Entertainment, Medical and Industrial markets.

For more information about TDI Power, go to www.tdipower.com.
Media contact: heather.maguire@tdipower.com

36 Newburgh Road
Hackettstown,
NJ07840
t: 908 850 5088
f: 908 850 0540
tdipower.com